Description
When I access procksi using www.procksi.com it displays message "Service is temporarily not available" but if i access it with www.procksi.net it allows me to submit the request but does not give the results. It sends following message: The [[ProCKSI]] Server - Error Report Status notification for request 38: test Messages [ERROR] We are sorry to report that there has occured an error during your calculation. I think there is some sort of synchronization problem with the two domains i.e .com and .net?

I have closed the "front door" for maintenance work, which shows the "Service is temporarily not available" page. [[br]]
If you still have a previous HTML page in the cache, where the "front door" is open, it allows you access to some functionality of the server. [[br]]
There is no synchronisation problem with the two domains. [[br]]
Please refresh your cache. [[br]]
